THE FREIGHT BLOCKADE. What Merchants of the City Say of the

Situation. EMBARRASSMENT CAUSED BY THE FAILURE OF THE BAILBOAD COMPANIES TO DELIVER GOODS-REMEDIES SUGGESTED-THE EXPERIENCES OF

BUSINESS MEN. Merchants of the city are suffering serious dealers, lumber men and wholesale dealers of concerned. The merchants of the city generally are troubled greatly by the freight blockade. At this season, when many of them expect unusually large shipments to supply the holiday trade, such delays and uncertainties as many of them have experienced have led to a general complaint. The remedies suggested by merchants interviewed by STAR reporters M. W. GALT, BRO, AND CO.

Mr. M. W. Galt of the firm of Galt, Bro. & Co., jewelers, is very emphatic in his de- between this city and Laltimore, for example, through our new board of trade. I think that nunciations of the action of the railroads in or else the present roads ought to be obliged us soon as we get that body well started we can the non-delivery of freight. He said: "There which comes to the city over their lines." can be but one of two reasons for this blockade of freight. Either the Pennsylvania railroad company have not the proper facilities for do-ing the business they have undertaken or it proceeds from an attempt on their part to coerce the business men of Washington into equiescence in their demand for the surrender of the public parks and highways to their use. To admit that this great corporation has not the facilities for moving the comparatively small amount of merchandise over their road to this city would simply be absurd, and we are forced to the conclusion that it proceeds from the other motive. This is no simple temporary nterruption of traffic, such as might proceed rom some unforseen cause, for it has continued for months. I know of no remedy except through the courts, for this company is liable at law for any damage a business man may sustain in consequence of unnecessary delay."

THOMAS SOMERVILLE. Thomas Somerville, brass founder, &c., is one of the largest freight shippers in the city, both of incoming and outgoing goods. He has suffered large losses from the blockade. His representative, who was well qualified to speak on the freight subject, said to THE STAR reporter: "I can just say that this trouble in getting our goods and sending them away is hurting our trade to an immense extent. It is as impossi-ble to get any satisfaction from the rairoad companies as it is to get any sort of service. We have a terra cotta factory four miles north of the city, and under the present condition of things it takes us from five to eight days to get a car load of sewer pipe into the city. It is run in, then backed out to Ivy City, then in again and switched out to the neighborhood of the factory again, and so on, until when we get it the stuff is half smashed. We have had one car load of bricks on the way here from New Jersey since October 7, and yesterday I received a letter from the Baltimore and Ohio company in Pittsburg saying hat a tracer had been sent out for the car. The trouble lay, they said, in getting goods de-The trouble lay, they said, in getting goods livered in this city, and that the embargo had to stir up Congress to legislate in favor of the ing when heavy, unperishable freight would roads." is shown to be untrue by a re-cent experience of ours in shipping a car southwest. It went by the way of the Metropolitan branch and lay at Point of Rocks, bound out of town, for just thirty-two days. This is ruining our southern trade in terra cotta, for where it ought to take four days to get a car from here to Norfolk it now occupies rom one to two months in transit. We can get absolutely nothing on time, and all that we can that I can sometimes get a civil answer from the Baltimore and Ohio, however unsatisfactory Mr. R. Goldschmid said that the freight early in the fall, he said, and grew worse at the time the conclave was held here. "The trouble is," he added, "the conclave is over long ago, but the freight delay is not over. There are nstances in my own business of freight being lelayed thirty days. From whatever direction it is sent, the same fate awaits it upon its arrival in the city. These delays are not only nnoving, but they are costly to the merchants. We have to pay a heavy tariff, in my opinion, and then to get such a poor service is simply outrageous. You ask me what is the cause of this condition of affairs, and I reply that it is ad management. There may be other causes, but it seems to me that in the management of the railroads you will find the defect which causes all the trouble."

lo not know of any remedy. Threats of suits

The representative of Julius Lansburgh, the He told a STAR reporter that the delay in the eccipt of goods sent by freight to this city was ausing them a great deal of trouble. Freight has been delayed four or five weeks in the de-livery. A bill of goods from Parkersburg, W. Va., he said, was delayed on the road for about a month. Mr. Brooks did not see much difference in the service of the two roads. He said that the trouble was that the cars as a rule reached the city, but they were not brought up to the freight depot and unloaded. "They are left standing," he said, "on the track out near Bennings, and only about half of the cars are unloaded. Last fall we had no difficulty because the cars were un-loaded at the freight depot and on the tracks within the city limits. Wagons would drive up to the cars left standing in the streets and the freight would be taken out. Then there were side tracks, so that large shippers could get their freight. Now, owing to the agitation of the people of South Washington against the unlawful occupation of the public streets by the railroad companies, the facilities of the Pennsylvania company at least have been restricted. I think that the railroad companies ought to recognize the rights of the public and provide other means. For instance, the surface track could be used for passenger trains exclusively to reach the 6th-street depot. Then for the freight cars an underground road could be built which would forever settle the vexed railroad question." FRANKLE AND CO. "Well, I should say we have had trouble with the railroads," said Mr. A. M. Loovis of "Any particular road?" asked the reporter.

"No," he replied, "one is as bad as the other The shipments from the west have been much worse than those from the east. Such a thing as getting freight on time is simply out of the question. Yesterday we received goods that were shipped October 17 and we still have goods on the road that were shipped October 4. One crate shipped from Baltimore arrived in exactly twenty-one days.

raking over. Freight bills are dated in some instances ten and twelve days back. Washington is now an important shipping point and we don't want a short stop mad because of the lack of railroad facilities. During the conclave we imported many goods for hat time and not more than half of them arrived in time.
"I don't believe," he concluded, "that there is another city in the country with such poor railroad facilities. The fact is that there is no western city of 40,000 inhabitants that has as nuch trouble as is experienced here." Mr. Bernard Bailey, the hardware dealer, said: "I have been terribly annoyed by the railroads' failure to make prompt shipments. I don't know whether it is negligence or lack of facilities, but if recent experiences are repeated between now and Christmas I don't know what between now and Christmas I don't know what some of the merchants are going to do for holiday goods. I had goods shipped from Baltimer. There was no use of going to Congress, more on the 28th of September that I would like to get. There is one objectionable feature about the business. That is, when you send a driver with a bill for goods he pays the bill and then the goods cannot be found. Then the railroad handles the goods to suit their convenience, but the money is kept all the same. If the goods are sent by express at greater expense the same trouble is not experienced. Another trouble is, that after the goods arrive what the railroad companies were treating the merchants of the city in a shameful manner. Two jailbirds crawled out of the Norristown her. There was no use of going to Congress, he said, for they would not listen to the wants of the citizens of the District.

CARHART AND LEIDY. "Our firm has experienced a great deal of trouble," said Mr. A. Carhart of the firm of Carhart & Leidy. "Our trouble has been principally with Philadelphia shipments, it taking about ten days to deliver goods here shipped from that city. Recently there has been an improvement, but still there is room for further good work in that direction.'

J. W. SCHAEFER. Mr. A. Schaefer of the firm of J. W. Schaefer & Bro., china dealers, when questioned by a STAR reporter said that they had had the biggest kind of trouble with the railroad companies. During the conclave, he said, it was simply impossible to get any goods shipped. It just took us from four to six weeks to get goods that we ought to get in less than that many days.

N. W. BURCHELL. "The freight traffic was very much interfered with about the time the conclave was held here," said Mr. N. W. Burchell, the grocer. If we had two more roads running into the city there would soon be a change.

THE PALAIS ROYAL. At the Palais Royal it was learned from the manager, Mr. Blount, that the establishment was having considerable trouble in getting housebreaking. Mr. W. S. Branson testified goods shipped from points other than New that he lived on Sheridan street, in the county; York and Philadelphia. "Some shipments," said Mr. Blount. "sent from Lancaster, N. coming from Baltimore, and others one month in coming from Ohio. He had finally aban-doned freight and at double the expense now had all his goods sent by express. He thought that the one cause of the trouble in the case of service of the city was not only irregular but it the Baltimore and Ohio was that it was very poor. In the Baltimore and Ohio depot freight was massed in great piles and instead of the employes of the company looking up articles when called for the citizens were obliged to do it themselves. Both roads, he thought, needed better facilities, but this was particularly true of the Baltimore and Ohio road. W. B. MOSES. "What is needed," said W. B. Moses, the furniture dealer, in talking about the disorganized states that in the fall of 1884 he threatened to Why, goods shipped to us have been delayed thirty and thirty-five days, and there is one car that has not arrived yet, although it ought to have been here a month ago. It is plain to me what is the cause of the present trouble. The roads are trying to do business with the same facilities that they had five years ago. During that time the business of the city has increased 100 per cent. We feel the inade-quate freight facilities of the railroads this year more than last year because the business has increased this year at least 25 per cent. Each year the business will continue to increase, and it is folly for the railroads to continue to refuse to recognize this state of affairs and attempt to do business with their inadequate facilities." W. H. HOUGHTON.

"Without explanation or reason," is what W. H. Houghton, the furniture dealer, says about the delay which his house has suffered in the delivery of freight. "Every day," he added, "I send a special messenger to the freight offices of both roads, and by persistent nagging offices of both roads, and by persistent nagging I manage to get some things delivered. It is the only way. Why, goods shipped from Balti-more have been delayed fifteen days, goods from Indiana nine weeks, from Grand Rapids and the west six to nine weeks. Freight from New York is promptly delivered. But just think of doing business under such condi-tions. It is a perfect outrage. What is needed to remedy these evils are better facilities. The roads seem to be unable to get the cars into the city and they allow cars to remain at points outside of the city, and the business men are obliged to submit to the loss which Frankle & Co., when questioned by a STAR re- such a delay occasions.
